Summer reading for Honors, AP English, and Dual Credit students at Chapman High School is required, as it prepares students for college level reading and critical thinking. Students will be assigned works to read throughout the summer. Students may purchase or check out the texts, but many are available online. Students are encouraged to take notes on the texts, which they may use on in-class assessments. Please refer to the summer reading letters distributed at school or contact your teacher for specific concerns about accessing the texts or future assignments.
